Press Release

May 2013

CRYSTAL HOMES AND TRADES DONATE $100,000 IN 2013 TO GIVE KIDS A CHANCE NEW EDUCATIONAL/CULTURAL CENTRE PLANNED.

Give Kids a Chance announced today the receipt of $100,000 donation from Crystal Homes and Trades towards the construction of a new educational/cultural centre in Jocotenango, Guatemala. This large donation will allow Give Kids a Chance to realize their dream of creating a permanent and safe location for the hundreds of children they are assisting in the village, with their educational, food and arts programs. Currently GKAC also sponsors the education of over fifty underprivileged children in public, high school or university. The charity pays their school fees and provides money for books and uniforms to children who otherwise would not be able to attend school.

The new building is planned as a new educational and community centre where the children can meet after school for extracurricular help and cultural enrichment. Here they will be exposed to activities such as theatre, visual arts, computer skills, filmmaking, journalism, poetry, ballet and breakdancing. The building project is expected to start shortly as soon as Give Kids a Chance receives final approval to start construction.
